

SolarTech Power Solutions

Huawei solar panel thermal processing

Overview

Thermal processing, or pyrolysis, is used to burn off the encapsulant (EVA) and plastic backsheet of solar panels. This separates the glass and metal components and recovers the silicon cells. While effective for separation, it is energy-intensive and can release toxic fumes.

Huawei solar panel thermal processing

Contact Us

For catalog requests, pricing, or partnerships, please visit:
<https://zegrzynek.pl>